Secretary's report.

Over the past year and a bit the committee has kept things ticking over and administered all aspects of running the site.

The holding of the AGM later than in previous years is in response to an owner request and allows more time for the preparation of audited accounts.

All trades brought on site by the committee, mainly Andrew and Kevan, have their Public Liability insurance checked as up to date and copies of certificates are forwarded to the committee. Our own insurance was looked into last year and is reviewed on a regular basis given our proximity to the sea. The lifebuoy installation was as a result of one of those reviews and its condition is checked regularly as a condition of the insurance cover.

The Committee is trying to ensure that owners, potential owners and to some extent visitors can find out what they need to know about Laigh Isle from the website iowll.co.uk
The diary page shows what the committee has organised and done.

Part of the main aim of the website is to make the work of the committee easier as information is available without recourse to them. Going forward historical information will accrue making it easier for future committee members and give new residents background knowledge.

The installation of electric vehicle charging points can be done without recourse to the committee.

We hope that the efforts of the committee have met with approval and ask that anyone who is willing to help, particularly someone with secretarial, document presentation and minute taking skills, volunteers to join us.

Kathryn Norgate and Andrew Read, joint secretaries.
